

As you may be aware, the VE Day 75 2020 commemorations on 8th May have been rescheduled to VJ Day weekend (15th August 2020).

The Royal British Legion, along with the Church and Epping Town Council, would still like to see V E Day commemorated in Epping. After six long years of war and the loss of countless lives, it is easy to imagine the sheer joy that swept through the town when the war in Europe ended.

We would like to invite the people of Epping to turn the streets of the town red, white and blue on Friday 8th May, as they did 75 years ago. Anyone who doesn't have flags or bunting could perhaps make their own. Children could make their own Union Flags and other decorations.

We could all do with a bit of cheering up at the moment, so please join in if you can safely.
